flow to Dust a Room.

The proper way to dust a room is to begin with the walls. Pin several thicknesses of cioth over a broom and sweep the walls down thoroughly, leaving at the same time ell the doors and windows open. This matter " sweeping the walls is important and should be done once a week in rooms that are much used. Then with a damp cloth wipe off the picture cords or wires, the backs of all the picture frames and the tops of the door and window frames. If there is any danger of injuring pictures or frames with a damp cloth use a dry one, but wipe them all off carefully. As often as you can get a good draft which will carry the dust out of the window, shake and beat the curtains, whether they be Holiand, lace, scrim or what not, for they are prime sinners in the matter of harboring dust.

The window-sash, sill and glass-should also receive attention. Use a large cloth, with half of it well dampened for dusting, te dry end being useful to wipe off small articles that might be injured by dampnessand be careful that you manipulate the cloth so as to wipe the dust into it and keep it there. If it gets dirty have a clean one, and always wash them out and scald them after using. If there are inside shutters to the windows they need to be cared for almost as tenderly as a baby. A thorough cleaning every week, carefully wiping both upper and under sides of the slats, is the only thing that will keep them in decent order. A room is not thoroughly dusted until all the furniture and woodwork and gas fixtures have been cleaned with the damp duster. Upholstered furniture should be taken out, brushed all over and then wiped with the damp cloth, not forgetting the under side.-Florence Finch Kelly in New York Mail and Express.

Woman's Suffrage Societies. Ladies in New York interested in "suffrage for women" are, by means of different local societies, educating themselves in the question of the day as involved in politics and constitutional rights. One reason, and a very excellent one, assigned for such a course of study is the ignorance among women of the theory of government and the necessity for a knowledge of the fundamental rules of political economy, whether the rights of suffrage be ever accorded to them or not. Of these societies, one is the "New York City Woman Suffrage league," of which Mrs. L. D. Blake. as successor to Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton, is president. Another is the "Woman's Suffrage committee," presided over by Mrs. Kate Palmer Stearns. A third is the "Society for Political Study," at which city and state governments are discussed. Mrs. Emily Wakeman is president.-New York Cor. Chicago

Woman Versus Man. "There is a growing tendency nowadays for women to unsex themselves-that is, to crowd into occupations which have up to late years been occupied exclusively by man. If women usurp occupations originally intended for the other sex, what about the men who are thrown out? for it is very certain there is not room for both." This is a fallacious popular idea. The question is misunderstood; women have not become manly, but men have become effeminate. In consequence of all their time immemorial employments having been gradually taken from them, women in this Nineteenth century are absolutely driven to seek some outlet for their energies, or necessities, in new lines of work.-National Review.

Just Looked at Him. Sometimes an impudent rufflan gets his friend whom she had left indoors. A man saw the stationary feminine figure, and, apwoman's destination. He was met with a stuttered, he even blushed under the cool, sulting.—Chicago Herald.

The Value of a Helpmeet. When a man becomes a widower he soon learns what the financial worth of his wife was to him. When he is compelled to hire the food cooked, the garments made, the washing and ironing done, he finds that about one-half of his income is required to meet these outgoes. Who saved this expense before) Let the cold fingers and the silent lips in the graveyard bear testimony. -New England Farmer,

A Girls' Fire Brigade. In a Liverpool cigar factory, where 1,000 girls are employed, a fire brigade, composed of the operatives, has been organized. The girls are well officered and drilled, and at a recent blaze in the factory did efficient service in subduing the flames.

she never saw a Hindoo child receive a caress from its mother.

A "premature wrinkle" is one that comes in a woman's face before also is married.

How Monotypes Are Made. Monotypes are attracting considerable attention at Boston just now among artists, and many of them are experimenting in the process. The design is drawn in printer's ink on a smooth plate, and one impression is taken by means of an etching press. phorance's safest plan is to talk sparingly but look volumes.—Jud Lafagan.

LIBELING THE PRESS.

How Certain Editors Found Out a Certain Quotation. "Say." It was the snake editor who spake, and he spake with the air of a man aweary of life, "I don't know how to use a concordance anyhow. Where do you find this quotation that goes on something about 'Winter lingering in the lap of spring?"

An embarrassing silence followed the question, and the album editor, feeling that all eyes were turned on him, said he never heard the quotation before, but it sounded as though it might be from the Conventicles. "The Con-who-ticles!" asked the bewildered snake editor. "The conventicles-Solomon's song, you know," said the album editor; "we call them the conventicles."

"Oh, yes," the snake editor said, greatly reassured, "I had forgotten you belonged to the Church of England. But find it for me. 1 want to use it in a Chester county moccasin item; I've got something here that will set | CAPITAL. your teeth on edge.'

The album editor took the Bible and tried for the conventicles a while, and then gave it up, remarking that the passage only occurred in the revised version.

The commencement editor, who used to read proof on The Chicago Times, said he had read the revised Bible clear through, and was positive the quotation wasn't from the Bible

The young man who does the book notices said it was from Pope, "That's what made me think it was in the Bible," said the snake Iron & Locomotive Works, editor; "but which pope was it? There's more'n a bundred of 'em, isn't there?"

The art editor, who had twice gone abroad with Cook's excursions, said he never saw the quotation in any of the European libraries, and the obituary editor said he W. H. TAYLOR. never ran across it in his reading. It was the | JoS. MOORE. general opinion of the convention that the remark was not a quotation at all, but was original with the snake editor. This compliment the snake editor modestly, albeit rather feebly, attempted to deny. "I know," he said, I have seen that sentence in print some-

"Here it is," shouted the accident editor, "I knew I had seen it too, but for the life of me couldn't tell where. Here it is." And he held up a copy of The Cider Valley 'alladium and pointed to the local column:

"April days. "Cold nights.

"Burn your rubbish, "Don't change your flannels. "Prime mess mackerel at Haddock's, t. f.

"Winter lingering in the lap of spring." A good deal of quiet followed this revelation. The snake editor was the first to speak. Well," he said, "that's it. I remember now. I was reading that paper yesterday, and I must have seen it there, but I was sure I had read that very thing a thousand times." And the commencement editor sat down and wrote a long and confusedly able article on "Unconscious Cerebration and Latent Impressions."-Burdette in Brooklyn Eagle.

Letting the Cat Out of the Bag. 'Now, children," said a country mother who was going out, "be real good while I'm away, and be sure you don't go near the churn where I hid them nut cakes."-Detroit

Humors of a Balloonist's Life. The descent of a balloon in a remote backwoods settlement is almost invariably produe at the hands of a woman. Not long ago | ductive of amusing incidents. Landing once a modest, well bred girl paused for a moment | in a mountainous district in the state of on a street corner to await the coming of a Georgia (writes King, the aeronaut), my companion and myself were astonished at hearing loud shrieks and exclamations issuing proaching, began with confidence to talk | from a house near by, while in the doorway about the weather and inquire the young | we saw an old lady upon her knees, praying with great vociferation. It surprised eyes, and in the end he turned and | had been dropped by some panic stricken naalmost ran away from the woman he was in- | tive. Further on, a fishing party had abandoned several strings of fish. Our comedy came measurably near ending in a tragedy, for we had a narrow escape from the shotguns of a gang of illicit distillers, who took us to be revenue officers. On the occasion of a recent descent in southern Virginia, a devout colored woman, catching sight of the balloon. gazed upon it in rapt admiration, exclaiming: "Dar comes my blessed Jesus, walking on de douds! I take my chillen out on de publ road! Suffin gwine to happen! Hallelujah!" and she went on shouting till the truth was explained to her. Another Afro-American, hearing me call to him, started off at full speed, crying as he ran: "Gabriel's done called me, I hear him holler!" Very amusing was the experience of Elliot in one of his descents. He had ascended from Charleston on a summer afternoon, and was carried slowly down the harbor, landing at last, just at nightfull, on one of the islands. There was to be a wake that night, and the dead negro. Mrs. Jackson, a missionary recently re- Dick by name, lay in a cabin, while a dozen turned from India, says that during ten years | live ones sat outside telling spook stories. when Elliot dropped down in front of them. There was a yell, a scramble, and in a moment all but one had disappeared; he had been caught by the aeronaut's anchor and dragged some distance, screaming piteously: "Oh, Massa Debil! Massa Debil! I'se not deniggar! I'se not de niggar! Dick's in dah! Dick's in dah!"-San Francisco Argonaut.
